Great Plains Section Begins Digging Out of Snowdrifts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Great Plains area still is digging out of snow drifts as high as house-tops today.

Deaths in the weekend blizzard rose to 33, spread over eight states:

Texas 7, Illinois 7, Oklahoma 5, Kansas 4, Nebraska 3, Indiana 3, Missouri 2, New Mexico 1 and Iowa 1.

Rescue operations began yesterday as skies cleared behind the storm, which veered northeastward toward the Great Lakes, partially spent but still potent.

A huge task faced rescuers. Hundreds of small communities across the desolate plains had been isolated since Saturday.

Despite their own plight, inhabitants of the area threw open their doors to refugees of the storm. Several towns were crowded with motorists seeking safety.

Snowbound cars by the hundreds were counted from the air yesterday over the six-state high plains area — eastern New Mexico and Colorado, the Panhandles of Texas and Oklahoma, western Kansas and Nebraska.

Rescuers believed more dead would be uncovered as the heavy snow thawed.

Food and supplies were dropped from the air and carried to disaster victims. Volunteer Red Cross workers in the Texas Panhandle used snowshoes and skis. Military helicopters picked up the frail and the needy and flew them to the nearest town or hospital.

School buses removed approximately 440 passengers from two cross-country streamliners stuck in the snow in western Kansas.

Taken into Meade, Kan., were 225 passengers of the Rock Island's eastbound Golden State Limited. They were housed in a high school gymnasium and given their first hot meal since Sunday night. The passengers said they had had only coffee and crackers until their rescue last night. There was no heat aboard the train.

Two of the passengers suffered heart attacks. Only a diabetic was reported in serious condition. She had run out of insulin. Most passengers were just hungry and tired.

State Public Service Commission today authorized the city of Sedalia to buy the local waterworks anytime after March 30.

The city recently floated a bond issue to buy the works. The company is asking $2,415,000, plus capital expenditures since last July 31.

Family Has 91 Unexpected Guests During the Blizzard

CLARENDON, Tex. (AP)—The Andy Brown family said goodbye yesterday to 91 unexpected weekend guests who were sheltered from a howling blizzard in their seven-room farmhouse.

The guest list included 43 passengers from two Greyhound buses bound for California from Oklahoma, 37 motorists and 11 truck drivers.

All made their way to the twinkling lights of the Brown home after the spring storm blocked roads in the area with insurmountable drifts. The farm is located about 17 miles north of Clarendon on U.S. Highway 70.

"They were wonderful," Mrs. Dorothy Evans of Chicago said of the Browns.

She said the family had no sleep from Saturday until the last stranded traveler left late yesterday.

"They didn't have time," Mrs. Evans said. "Mrs. Brown was busy cooking all the time and Andy was always needed to help someone in trouble. They were wonderful."

Pretty Mrs. Melba Brown — slender and with prematurely gray hair — busied herself today serving cup cakes and cookies as an in-between snack. She also whipped up a corn goulash for lunch.

The Browns — Andy, Melba, their children, David and Linda, and Andy's uncle, George Shoop — opened their doors, their larder and even relinquished their warm beds to the cold and weary men and women.

The first rescue force from McLean, Tex., broke through the drifts about noon. A second unit made it from Clarendon.

Some 30 men moved to the heated concrete-block barn just behind the house.

Mrs. Brown and the women prepared food and coffee flowed by the barrel until the supply gave out. Cigarettes were next to go but eggs, bacon, flour, corn and other items held out until the end.

Asked how they amused themselves, most answered, "We slept."

The house had only one bath room and the Browns said the line sometimes numbered 20 waiters. Children and adults rotated in shifts for a few winks on the beds and some adults were forced to stand because of limited floor space.

Hale and hearty, although weary, the guests began leaving after the National Guard unit from McLean broke through with much needed supplies.

They took up a collection of $170 "as a small measure of our thanks," as one woman said to Mrs. Brown.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Snow fell in eastern Missouri today and the Weather Bureau said moisture-bearing clouds will still be over the state tomorrow.

Forecast for tomorrow was occasional light rain in the south and east central portions and scattered thundershowers in the southeast.

Although rain or snow tapered off in some sections, more drought relieving moisture was recorded in the 24 hours ended at 6:30 a.m. today.

Precipitation measured .31 of an inch at Rolla, .23 at Joplin, .22 at St. Louis, .20 at Farmington, .18 at Columbia, .14 at Kansas City and .12 at Kirksville.

The Weather Bureau said it will be slightly warmer in the southwest tonight and the southeast tomorrow, with little change in temperature elsewhere.

Rescuers believed more dead would be uncovered as the heavy snow thawed.

Demos Stress City Progress At Rally Here

"The progress of our city in the past three years has been due to the businesslike approach to the city's problems that had been neglected," said William F. Brown in speaking to a Second Ward Democratic rally at Washington School Monday night.

Continuing, Brown pointed out that with modern conditions affecting traffic and other city functions, plans have to be made far into the future and the needs anticipated.

"In this age of specialization, it is foolhardy to assume that intelligent planning for the future in anything as complicated as the ever changing needs of traffic control and parking, can be done on a day to day basis, by amateurs."

"This administration, through the earnest and cooperative efforts of the officials and the wise use of available expert advice and planning has made great strides toward a progressive and orderly plan of expansion and improvement and without raising taxes, has extended and improved its municipal services," Brown said.

Further, he stressed, "There has been no section of the city overlooked in planning solutions for our city's needs. Our best interests demand that we have these conscientious, dedicated servants on the Council, to help complete the program of modernization and growth."

W. C. Cramer, Democratic city chairman, presided and introduced the candidates.

Woodrow W. Garrison, Democratic candidate for alderman for the Second Ward spoke on the need for continuing improvement of streets.

Garrison pointed out that the Council had been able to accomplish much, because of the fine spirit of cooperation of its members and their awareness to the needs of every section of the city.

"By continuing hard-working cooperative members on the Council, with this experience in city problems," Garrison said, "you can all be certain that much more will be accomplished in the next year."

30 Year Old Woman Admits Fatal Shooting Of Photographer

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—A 30-year-old woman admitted today, sheriff Edward Cordell said, fatally shooting Roy Hirschburg, 64, a nationally known photographer, in front of his downtown studio late last night.

Cordell said Miss Ethel Wyse, of nearby Centerville, told him she shot the photographer with a .22 rifle.

Hirschburg was found lying on the sidewalk, one bullet in his heart and another in his head.

Mrs. Anne McFarland, 41, Hagerstown, Ind., told officers she and Miss Wyse had spent the evening with Hirschburg. She said she began to scream after the shooting and Miss Wyse fled in her car.

Officers said Miss Wyse drove to a farm, then decided to return. She was intercepted by police 1½ hours after the shooting.

Hirschburg was a winner of many national and international portrait photography awards.

Beck Says He Follows A Union Precedent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dave Beck likes to say that in letting the Teamsters Union furnish him with free living quarters he's only following precedent established by the union's late president, Dan Tobin.

The union provided Tobin with homes in Florida and Massachusetts.

Beck has three union-paid domiciles. One is a lavish lakeside estate, complete with swimming pool, at Seattle. A second is an apartment hotel suite here. The third is a comfortable efficiency in the Teamsters' ornate headquarters building here.

Patrol Head Sees Record Breaking Year

Missouri motorists may be heading for another record shattering year in traffic fatalities if the highway death patterns of past years hold true.

According to Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol: "The worst is yet to come." He said there has been a reduction of more than 30 deaths this year over the same period in 1956 — "but it just isn't enough."

The Patrol chief said the state needs "a good first six months this year to act as a buffer for the second half which normally is more fatal for drivers."

October usually is the most deadly month. In 1955, for instance, 132 were killed in traffic that month. October of last year was a freak with 80 persons killed.

If this year's October is anything like October of the past, the 30-death reduction will be erased. "It is just simple arithmetic," Colonel Waggoner said. "Last year the record for the state was smashed with 1,129 traffic deaths. And the record was broken in spite of the comparatively good mark in October."

"A bad October this year could spell another disaster."

Even if Missouri should have only an average October — that about 97 deaths — the reduction carried so far this year would be cut in half. The 1956 October was the lowest on Patrol records since 1946 when 79 died on the highways.

"I think if drivers become aware of the problem they face for the remainder of the year, the state can improve its record," the Patrol head said, adding:

"I know it's a big order, but if people have the ingenuity to invent the automobile they ought to have the brains to use it correctly. If motorists remember and practice the rules of safe driving we'll save a lot of lives this year."

Governor Signs Bill Directing Fund Investment

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A bill establishing legal standards for investment of idle state funds became law with Gov. James T. Blair's signature late yesterday.

The new law was passed by the Legislature to set up legal signposts under the constitutional amendment approved by the voters last November. It puts into the statutes the procedure already being followed by State Treasurer M. E. Morris.

Under the new law, it's up to Morris to decide how much money must be kept in non-interest-bearing checking accounts to meet current operating costs of the government. Right now that amounts to about $27 million.

An additional amount must be put in 30-day time deposits, now drawing one per cent interest under federal regulations. And the balance goes into short term government securities.

Currently the state has about $44 million in 30-day time deposits and around $21 million in 90-day treasury notes drawing three per cent.

The governor noted that the bill passed both houses overwhelmingly and said it probably "is as good as you can do."

Federal, State Aid To Blind Is Subject Legislator Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Continuation of federal and state aid to the blind programs in Missouri was discussed yesterday.

Missouri's congressional delegation met with Proctor Carter, Missouri director of public health and welfare, and Missouri state legislators.

The House Ways and Means Committee recently approved a bill by Rep. Karsten (D-Mo) to permit both the federal and state aid plans to operate in Missouri for two more years beyond June 30.

A similar bill has been introduced by Sen. Symington (D-Mo). Karsten said that under a special law Missouri for six or seven years has used both the federal and the state supplementary plans. The social security agency has contended this has been in conflict with the social security law.

Municipal Enterprise

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—The city of Henderson has a tenant farmer.

The Board of Commissioners approved a contract permitting Granville Read to plant corn on 40 acres of city-owned land next spring.

The city and Read will split the cost of fertilizer and the seed. They'll also divvy up proceeds from sale of the corn.

They had called to visit and ask the Hopkins' help in planning a PTA Dad's Nite program. THE BIG 300-H.P. BUICK SUPER
In the spacious 2-Door Riviera model

THOUSANDS of happy new owners are telling us:

"This 1957 Buick is the most spectacular car I have ever handled."

These folks are finding out that we put most of our money into performance.

They're finding out that a brand-new engine and a brand-new "power train" give them an eager response such as they have never felt in a car before.

They're finding out that the 1957 Dynaflo* can climb hills—pull through mud—duck a traffic hazard with such instantaneous obedience—there's rarely a need to switch the pitch or go into "Low."

They're finding out, these happy new owners, that the 1957 Buicks are so loaded with new features, they are literally the dream cars of the year to drive.

Controls Can Backfire

We disagree with the friend who remarked we were pushing the season by talking in March about spring clean-up. Women are already talking about it, not doing anything, just talking and planning and getting ready. This takes a long time.

Men are not far behind. They have been looking at seed catalogues—vegetable and flower—and doing some planting and have already started to cuss out the dogs before canines have set foot on the dream garden or sniffed around flower bushes.

Sedalia is not unlike many other communities where dogs licensed and unlicensed checks increase of the population cans, and prowl the neighbors' yards. Sometimes we wonder what good it is to license dogs when so many of their owners don't pay any attention to paying the tax. One good reason is that licensing checks increasing the population of stray dogs which are potential rabies carriers.

A National Humane Society's survey shows that 40,000,000 cats and dogs are homeless in the United States. About 2,000,000 for whom homes cannot be found are destroyed annually.

Sometimes there are repercussions from destroying these animals, thus interfering with nature's method of striking a balance.

Not long ago the Pompton, New Jersey city council passed an ordinance licensing cats. Sedalia hasn't gotten around to that extremity yet and before our council does the members had better read what happened over in Pompton. After the cat ordinance was passed every cat that appeared without a tag was sent to the cat pound. All the old alley cats were killed off because they had long been considered a nuisance. What happened? Now the rats have taken over, running wild and getting so bold they eat out of the dog's food dish.

There's no end to this dilemma about controlling the pet population. Kill the dogs and the cats take over, kill the cats and the rats take over, kill the rats and the fleas take over, presuming of course the jumpers have been transferring their affection down the line.

How are you going to start licensing fleas? Let the new city council figure that one out.

In the meantime dogs have fun. It's a few weeks until gardening time in Sedalia.

Dave Beck a Big Real Estate Operator

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It has been known for some time that Dave Beck, potent, harassed, and harried head of the Teamsters, was under income-tax scrutiny. But it has not been known how the investigation started. It can now be revealed that it was actually ordered by President Harry Truman and has been continued by Internal Revenue since.

Income-tax troubles are considered to be the reason why the big Teamster boss has been so frantically selling off big wads of real estate and why he also went before the union's executive council to sell his home and his furniture to the union, even though the union had already paid for various repairs on the home, and thus paid for part of it twice.

The skein of Beck's farflung business operations is difficult to unravel. The tax agents have been working on it for some time and find that he has real estate all the way from the Washington, D.C., suburbs to the West Coast.

However, is a quick look at part of his financial empire:

Early in Beck's career his family got into the beer business. Not content with organizing the beer-wagon drivers, Beck organized the brewery workers. They had their own union, but he moved in and made them part of the Teamsters. Then Beck's nephew, Norman Gessert, became president of Sunset Distributors which handles Rainier beer in North Seattle. Beck himself, with his wife, has owned about 1,000 shares of Rainier stock.

Budweiser and Beck Jr.

Dave Beck Jr. is also president of K and L Beverage Co., which now handles Budweiser. For a long time, no eastern beer was allowed to enter Seattle. The Teamsters wouldn't permit it. It was not distributed. But now Dave Beck's son has the distributorship for Anheuser-Busch of St. Louis.

Dave Beck's wife, Dorothy, also holds stock in K and L Distributors which sells not only beer, but whisky and wine as far north as Alaska. So the Beck family is right in the beer business from bar back to the brewery.

The Teamsters' constitution, by the way, requires that its international president shall "devote all his time to the service of the brotherhood."

Another part of Beck's financial empire which the tax agents have taken a look at is his real estate and his finance agency. The latter, the Northwest Securities Corp., is an automobile finance agency which does about $2,000,000 worth of business annually on new and used cars, plus auto insurance.

Beck has borrowed part of the money for his business ventures from his own union, as he himself said, to the tune of $300,000 to $400,000 without interest. He has also borrowed from the Accidental Life Ins. of California, which handles the health and welfare funds for 300,000 Teamsters in the 12 western states. It has been glad to lend Beck money at around 3½ per cent, even at a time when veterans were paying 4 per cent.

Guest Editorial—

JOPLIN GLOBE: Bad For Drunken Drivers. In a realistic decision taking cognizance of the problem of traffic safety enforcement, the Supreme Court has upheld the legal right of states to make blood tests under proper supervision to determine if a car driver is under the influence of alcohol.

Such a decision should clear the way for a frontal attack on the problem of drunken drivers, large contributors to the nation's 40,000 traffic deaths each year.

Science has taken the guesswork out of determining whether or not a driver is intoxicated. The problem has been the legality of the tests and the admissibility of such evidence in court. The Supreme Court has in effect ruled that the evidence is admissible. The law is going to catch up with scientific progress in this respect, and the effect should be to spare many lives.

It would be a deterrent also to excessive drinking by drivers. It used to be they could bluff their way out of arrest and prosecution, or confuse the issue in a court trial, for no driver thinks he ever is too drunk to drive. Now he will know there is a legal way to get at the persuasive facts.

The Supreme Court decision is bad news for drunken drivers.

President Is Tired Despite Appearance

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trying to judge President Eisenhower's physical condition by looking at him — or looking at pictures of him — is tricky business and so far has not proved anything.

For weeks Eisenhower has been troubled by a cough. On March 12 doctors at Walter Reed Hospital checked him over. The next day the President told reporters the doctors thought he was in "quite good shape from their standpoint."

At times in recent weeks some newsmen who have seen Eisenhower closeup thought he looked tired. Others, seeing him at the same time, thought he looked excellent. Some recent pictures make him look tired. In others he looks fine.

Last week his appointments secretary, Bernard M. Shanley, in a speech mainly devoted to the Supreme Court, mentioned Eisenhower in a way that emphasized his tiredness and compared the President of three years ago and today.

"It is impossible," said Shanley, "for the president to do the things he did three years ago. I have seen the President so tired he has rested his head on his hands."

In a talk to the nation Feb. 29, 1956 — five months after his heart attack and announcing he would seek a second term — Eisenhower made it clear that if re-elected he would have to cut down on some of the activities he had indulged in before his heart attack.

He said: "Some of the things in which I can properly have a reduced schedule include public speeches, office appointments with individuals and groups, ceremonial dinners, receptions, and portions of a very heavy correspondence."

A week later Eisenhower, denying Democratic complaints that he was already a "part-time president," said that if the time ever came when he didn't feel fit to carry out his duties he would inform the people immediately.

An Associated Press reporter, regularly assigned to the White House for years, says that so far as he can determine Eisenhower is working as long hours as ever.

But he also says he never saw Eisenhower looking better than he did the day before his heart attack Sept. 24, 1955, and the night before his stomach attack last summer.

One reporter who was with Eisenhower at his Bermuda meeting with British Prime Minister Macmillan last week said later the President seemed to him tired around the eyes when he boarded his plane Sunday to return home.

Another reporter, meeting Eisenhower when he got off that plane here, wrote that the President looked "tired and fit." The picture accompanying that story seemed to show the President looking fit.

But other newsmen who met that same plane thought the President looked "quite fatigued." James Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, was told of this yesterday. He said he thought all those who took part in the Bermuda conference felt a little tired afterwards. Outside of that, Hagerty said, Eisenhower was feeling fine.

One press photographer who followed Eisenhower around Bermuda later said the President coughed frequently there, holding a handkerchief to his mouth and pressing his chest.

He also said that Eisenhower — during a half hour of hitting golf balls around with Hagerty at Bermuda — sat down on the ground three or four times to rest.

Yesterday morning Hagerty said that during Eisenhower's leisurely voyage to Bermuda and his stay there he had shaken off a head cold and ear trouble but still had an occasional cough.

Yet yesterday afternoon Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.), after attending Eisenhower's White House conference with congressional leaders, said the President looked fit, did not appear to be hoarse, and did not cough during the hour and 20 minutes he spent with the senators and representatives.

Secretary of State Dulles was reported to have done most of the talking with the Congress members because, at the start, Eisenhower said his voice was not up to a lengthy discussion.

Puerto Rican's Vision Aids His Country's Development

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — A fast moving Puerto Rican with a vision so beautiful and practical that he's winning the cold war against poverty in his homeland came to Washington for a series of conferences with U. S. experts.

The 49 year old Teodoro Moscoso, head of the bustling Economic Development Administration, is relatively unknown in the United States outside business circles but he's admired throughout the three-fourths of the world where poverty is still the bitter, obstinate enemy. Literally, 99 countries have sent over some 3,600 officials and students to discover "how Moscoso did it."

What he did was not unusual, but the way he obtained his objectives was so daring he had to combat much criticism. Fortunately, he had the full confidence of Governor Luis Munoz Marin.

For example, schools and hospitals were badly needed. Available money was not sufficient. So he gambled a large chunk of the government's total funds and built a hotel in San Juan so beautiful it's to be shown at the Centennial exhibition as a principal work of American architecture. Then he leased it to the Hilton chain to manage. So "Moscoso's Folly" is making big money for the Puerto Rican government and that finances the construction of those needed schools and hospitals.

Another example. Unemployment could best be solved by interesting capital investment from the United States but manufacturers were reluctant. Moscoso built two factories of modern design as government enterprise and easily sold them to private buyers. Now there are 450 new plants from blue chip U. S. industry: General Electric, Union Carbide and Carbon, Remington Rand, etc.

Again, tourists could best be attracted by good hotels (there are four new ones abounding in addition to the Caribe Hilton) and good transportation. An entirely new and original plan went into the International airport, called a "fresh breeze in airport design" by Architectural Forum. Also practical, it is one where incoming passengers don't get snarled up with outgoing passengers. Also it can accept jet airliners without major changes.

Then he told the people. In a series of beauty-haunting ads in the New Yorker magazine (which are the talk of Madison Avenue), he makes readers want to go to the Caribbean by depicting old-world charm in a lively renaissance of Puerto Rico.

The result? Family income has jumped from a grim $660 in 1940 to $2,460 in 1955 and is still soaring. Life expectancy has leaped from 46 to 68 years.

THERE IS PERHAPS nothing that thrills a woman more than a new car, but there is nothing that can prove as confusing until she learns all about it. The bad thing is they are making the cars with more conveniences and more buttons, and the more buttons the more trouble she has. The old game of "button, button, whose got the button" has completely changed. Now it's "button, button, which is the button."

One evening a woman drove several other women to a dinner party and, as she and one of the women she ever managed to get there on for the others to get ready to leave the other woman said to the new car owner, "Its cold. Why don't you turn on the heater?"

"I would," said the driver, "but I can't find the heater button."

"What is this 'H button for'?" asked her friend.

"Well, the 'H doesn't stand for heater," came the reply, "and I can't find the radio button, either."

They went carefully over all the buttons and she seemed to know what they were supposed to be for but when it came to the heater and the radio she was just at a loss. Then it seemed to have warmed

Survey Hitting Truck Rates Is Held Up By Three Groups

(Editor's Note — The following is reprinted from the St. Louis Post Dispatch, because of general interest throughout this area.)

By HERBERT A. TRASK
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

JEFFERSON CITY, March 21—Publication of the results of a State Highway Department survey reportedly showing that heavy trucks do not bear a fair share of highway costs, was held up because of objections by representatives of three interested industry groups, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

The objections came from the Missouri Bus and Truck Association, the American Truck Association and the petroleum industry.

The survey was finished last fall, but after complaints were made over the methods and rating factors used, the Highway Commission withheld its approval. Copies that were distributed were marked in red ink: "Preliminary and unapproved report."

The highway department undertook the study at the request of the Automobile Club of Missouri, to determine whether all types of vehicles were paying fair shares. Rex M. Whitton, chief engineer of the department, notified interested groups and told them they would be consulted.

Heeds Objections

When the objections were raised, Whitton told the commission there might be some merit in some of them, and noted that a broader pilot study was in prospect on a national basis, on a strip of highway in Illinois, with national organizations and the United States Bureau of Public Roads taking part.

Questions were raised as to whether some premises used in the Missouri survey were accurate, and whether too much importance was attached to the use of city streets that coincide with state highways.

The unpublished report now is being studied by the State Senate Roads and Highways Committee in connection with its consideration of legislation to permit bigger and heavier trucks to use the roads.

Senator Leo J. Rozier (Rep.) Perryville, asked that a copy of the report be furnished the committee yesterday after representatives of Missouri railroads vigorously opposed the bill liberalizing state limitations on truck size and loads.

The controversial measure would increase the permissible length of tractor-trailer combinations from 45 to 50 feet, increase truck heights from 12½ to 13½ feet, and boost the legal load limit from 60,010 to 64,650 pounds.

Charge By Railroads

Spokesmen for the railroads charged at yesterday's hearing that the big trucks are not now paying their proportionate share of Missouri's highway costs, and contended that enactment of the bill would give truck operators an additional competitive advantage over the railroads.

up in the car and they thought they might have felt warmer from trying to find the right button—but it was really getting nice and warm. Then she made the discovery that she had turned the heater on by a lever that started the motor. Now that they had settled down a bit they heard a soft humming sound — the radio. Yes sir, it was on, all right, at the touch of something on the car and the more she fooled with it the louder the radio got. It had been a profitable evening for her, after all. While she was waiting for the rest of her car load to come on, she had finally found out how to turn on the radio and the heater. And just about the times she learns all about this car, her husband will trade it in on a new one with more buttons and levers and she will have to start all over again.

— H. L.

Later, Rozier questioned James J. Corbett, assistant engineer of the highway department, about the survey. Corbett said such a study had been made, but that it had never been approved by the State Highway Commission because of some objections that had been made to the report.

Corbett did not say who had objected to the report, but said there had been criticism about the manner in which the survey had been made by highway department employees. He declined to say whether he thought the findings were in error.

Senator Michael Kinney (Dem.) St. Louis, chairman of the committee, said Rex M. Whitton, chief engineer of the highway department, will be called as a witness next week to explain the survey.

No Increase In Fees

Morris Osburn, former chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission, who now represents Missouri railroads, charged that the big truck operators were being subsidized by private automobile owners and small truckers, who, he said, pay for the construction and maintenance of state highways.

Osburn reported that of the 272,000 trucks in Missouri, only about 5,000 or 6,000 are licensed to carry the maximum payload of 60,010 pounds. He said the bulk of the trucks are small vehicles, the operators of which, like automobile owners, "pay more than they should to provide a right-of-way for the big fellows."

He contended that the increased payload under the bill would give the big truckers larger earnings, but he pointed out that the bill would not increase fees paid by the truckers to the state.

There was testimony at the hearing that the one-foot addition in truck height would require alteration of numerous underpasses which are now too low for clearance of trucks 13½ feet high. It was reported there are 36 such underpasses on major highways and 81 on supplemental routes.

Senator J. F. Patterson (Dem.) of Caruthersville, sponsor of the bill, offered an amendment to eliminate the increased truck height from the measure.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Standards of piety have caused many people to be quite blind to their broader spiritual responsibilities of love and humility. Some do not even realize that they err and fall short of doing God's will.

God does not measure goodness and badness with a fine measure. He does not balance the amount of each. He does not measure love in terms of goodness. Nor does He subtract from goodness in weights of transgression.

In other words, salvation is not apportioned in accord with our avoidance of moral "don'ts." Salvation is a gift of God bestowed on those who repent their sins, great and small.

If we are truly sorry for our opposition to God's will, and if we give our whole beings to His creative service, we shall enjoy God's gift of peace and eternal life.

Make Way For New

When the Air Force retired the last B-17 bomber it did not spell the end of piston-powered aircraft in the bomber command. But it is a fact that the military has indeed sent the last piston-type fighter planes to the nation's museums and junkyards.

Less than a dozen years ago such planes still were the backbone and substance of our mighty World War II air arm. Their top speed of 450 miles an hour and maximum altitude of 40,000 feet were regarded as aviation marvels at the time. Their feats of combat formed a brilliant chapter in our conquest of stubborn enemies on two far-flung fronts.

But today our fighter wings rely upon roaring jets that achieve speeds up to 1,400 miles an hour and heights beyond 45,000 feet. Gone are the "antiquated" machine guns that bristled from the old piston jobs. In their place are fast-firing cannon or air-to-air missiles. Automatic fire-control systems zero in on enemy craft with deadly sureness.

We welcome the streaking jets. But their whining, droning predecessors long ago battled their way into a secure niche in our history.

Orton Meets Hagen Tonite In Mat Bout

TONIGHT'S WRESTLING CARD In Sedalia Armory—8:15

MAIN EVENT

Thor Hagen, 228, Minneapolis, vs. Bob Orton, 240, Kansas City, Kan. Best two out of three falls, or a 60-minute time limit. (For Missouri state heavyweight championship; Orton defending title).

SEMI-WINDUP

Mighty Atlas, 225, Hollywood, Calif., vs. Sonny Myers, 226, St. Joseph, Mo. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

SPECIAL EVENT

Rip Hawk, 224, Toledo, Ohio, vs. Gentleman Jim Dobie, 225, Independence, Mo. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

Matches sponsored by Pettis American Legion Post.

Clear the ring for action! Bob Orton and Thor Hagen will be at it again in the Armory wrestling ring tonight!

Here's the season's most bitter grudge match—a match which every Sedalia area fan has demanded to see following the bitter slugfest involving the two heavyweights here March 12.

Enraged by Orton's ruthless tactics, Hagen dared Orton to come back into the ring. The arrogant Kansan stalked back through the ropes—and Hagen let him have it with both barrels. Bedlam broke loose and the fans wildly cheered Hagen as he battered Orton all around the ring. The post-match flareup was the wildest ever witnessed in the local arena.

While he gained a measure of satisfaction in thumping Orton, Hagen still couldn't erase the record defeat and he promptly demanded a return title match.

It will be a reluctant Orton here tonight. He's back not by personal choice but by direct order.

Hagen has already served notice that since Orton chose a roughing course he, too, will unveil a few roughing tricks of his own in direct retaliation. The title clash looms as the most heated grudge battle to be presented here in recent years.

Two excellent supporting matches will round out the big mat program which gets under way at 8:15. Sonny Myers' square off with Mighty Atlas will take the semi-windup spot.

The interesting side issue to the Myers-Atlas match dates back to mid-February when Sonny brought Atlas' sensational 87-match victory string to an end in a wild Kansas City match. Atlas is now out to even accounts with the popular St. Joseph speedster. It will be their first resumption of hostilities since the February match with Atlas returning from Oklahoma City especially to get a return crack at Myers.

Gentleman Jim Dobie, a great favorite among the Armory patrons, will put his feet-footed striking power into play against villainous Rip Hawk, the blond bomber from Toledo. The Hawk has become one of the most controversial mat personalities to hit Missouri in recent months. His cocksure attitude puts him in the same bracket with Orton.

Both Dobie and Hawk are trying to move into the top contendership position and this fact places added importance on their showdown tonight.

The Armory doors will open tonight at 7:15.

Says Mental Beating Worse For Fighter

DETROIT (AP)—"A fighter can take two kinds of beatings. One of them is a physical beating, and I've taken one or two of them. The other kind is the bad kind—that's the psychological beating. I never took one of them."

That was Archie Moore talking, and the veteran pugilist who will defend his light heavyweight title in Detroit's Olympia Stadium on June 7 always has words to spare.

Someone brought up a couple of questions about Moore's fights with Bobo Olson and Rocky Marciano, after Archie had agreed to terms yesterday. Moore gave Olson a thorough beating, knocking him out in short order.

Moore, later trying to land Marciano's heavyweight crown, got almost the same treatment from the Rock.

Asked if he suffered any ill effects from the Marciano knocking out, or the kayo he suffered later at the hands of Floyd Patterson, Archie cracked:

"Do I look sick?"

The 39-year-old champ went on to explain this business of punishment inside the ring.

"Now, I didn't hit Bobo hard enough or often enough to cause him any physical trouble," said Archie. "They say that fight ruined him. Well sir, then he must have taken a bad psychological beating. That's worse than the other kind. A man suffers a big letdown, naturally, when he tries for something big and doesn't get it."

"Just like I tried for something big against Marciano and Patterson. I was disappointed, sure. But I didn't let it get me down. I came right back, didn't I? And I'm still going strong, right?"

Cardinal Pitchers Impress Rival Team Manager and Player

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—A manager and a ballplayer, both rivals, said yesterday the St. Louis Cardinals should be a greatly improved baseball team this season. Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and Johnny Temple, Reds' second baseman, based their comments on pitching and the acquisition of Del Ennis from Philadelphia.

"Ennis is good for 100 RBIs or so," Temple analyzed, "and so are Stan Musial and Ken Boyer. No, the Cardinals don't need much else to win the pennant."

"But don't overlook us," Temple added quickly.

Tebbetts said he was impressed by Cardinal pitchers, especially young Tom Cheney.

Redlegs' Player Sees Repeat of Last Year From Rival Pitchers

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Frank Robinson, the National League's 1956 Rookie of the Year, tilted a paper cup full of ice to his lips and said:

"Sophomore Jinx? Maybe so. But not as far as playing the game is concerned."

"I guess maybe they'll pitch me different. Well, not really different because they started pitching me different along about July. I guess they'll pitch me the same way they finished up."

The young Cincinnati left fielder, who tied the rookie record with 38 home runs, was sitting in the Redlegs' dugout at Al Lopez Field.

"They pitched me 'in-and-out' at the end. You know. Giving me one inside and then going outside with the next pitch. When the season started they were giving me a lot of fast stuff."

"Fast ball, curve and slider. That's what they gave me at first. Then it was 'in-and-out.' Those Milwaukee pitchers gave me a lot of slow stuff. Especially (Warren) Spahn."

A fellow asked whether Robinson had noticed anything different about the pitchers this spring.

"No," he answered. "I've only been in about five games. I'm having the usual spring trouble with my arm."

Northwestern U Seeks New Basketball Coach To Replace Fisher

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern University is looking for a new basketball coach with the help of Waldo Fisher, who resigned yesterday to become assistant athletic director.

Athletic Director Stu Holcomb announced the resignation and said Fisher's first job in his new position will be to aid in the selection of a new basketball coach.

Northwestern finished last for the second straight year in the Big Ten conference this season with a 2-12 record. The Wildcats had a 7-16 mark for the season.

Fisher, who served as an assistant basketball and football coach since his graduation from the university in 1928, took over as head cage coach in 1951.

Under Fisher, Northwestern's best season was in 1954-55 when the Wildcats finished in the first division of the Western Conference with a 7-7 mark and had an overall record of 12-10.

Hitch In Navy Didn't Hurt Podres Magic

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

A hitch in the Navy apparently hasn't taken the edge off that old black magic that Johnny Podres threw at the New York Yankees in the 1955 World Series.

The slim Brooklyn left-hander, who won two games from the Yanks in the Series—including a shutout in the finale—faced the Bronx Bombers at Vero Beach yesterday and they promptly rolled over and played dead.

He went six innings, didn't allow a hit and only permitted two men to reach first base, one on a walk and another on an error. But both were wiped out, so he wound up facing only 18 batters.

Podres now has a string of 17 scoreless innings against the world champions.

The Brooks won yesterday's game 1-0 in the 11th inning.

The Dodgers didn't have a reliable left-hander all last season, and they've been looking forward to Podres' return.

Four other games were played. At Orlando, Fla., the Washington Senators defeated the Kansas City A's 3-3; at Tucson, Ariz., the Chicago Cubs turned back the Cleveland Indians 11-6; at Phoenix, Ariz., the New York Giants outlasted the Baltimore Orioles 6-4; and The Boston Red Sox whipped the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League 3-0 at Hollywood.

Both the Nats and the Cubs had big innings. Washington jumped on veteran Ned Garver for seven runs in the eighth inning—including a two-run homer by Herb Pless— to wrap it up, and the Cubs coasted in after scoring six runs in the first inning against the Tribe. Ernie Banks and Jim Bolger each had two homers for the winners.

The Giants collected three home runs, off Baltimore pitchers, but the big one was hit by Dusty Rhodes. It came in the bottom of the 12th with a mate aboard and won the ball game. Foster-Castleman and Hank Sauer also hit home runs for the Giants.

New York to Have Musicals Under Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway Musicals Under the Stars are planned for Manhattan's Central Park this summer.

The producers announced they will stage several musicals in a 3,000-seat, open-air theater to be built on a converted ice skating rink. The season will run from June 8 through Sept. 14.

Portocarrero Gives Top Performance In Bid for A's Berth

ORLANDO, Florida (AP)—Arnold Portocarrero, bidding for a return to the Kansas City Athletics pitching staff, yesterday turned in his third straight impressive performance.

The 6-3, 196-pound right hander issued only two walks and gave up six hits and one run in seven innings against Washington. The Senators won, however, 8-3, pushing 7 runs across in the eighth inning against Ned Garver.

Portocarrero in his last three appearances has worked 12 innings and given up only one run on 10 hits. But the former A's front line hurler still has not shown a good fast ball.

The New York State native was shipped to Birmingham last year after working in three games for Kansas City. He finished the season with a 10-10 record and a .347 earned run average.

Rules Committee Changes Code On Free Throws

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The National Basketball Committee, tinkering with college and AAU rules again, has changed the code on free throws and made a gesture against stalling.

The committee yesterday decided the first six common fouls in each half shall be one-shot violations. Free throws on succeeding fouls will be awarded under the present one-and-one bonus basis. A player gets a second shot if he makes the first.

The Big Ten used the rule during the past season.

High schools, YMCA and Canadian players will follow the same code except for a slight difference—they will have four one-shot fouls instead of six.

Taking note of "actionless or farcical games," the committee said unnecessary stalling by a team shall bring a warning from the game officials. A technical foul can be called if the warning has no effect.

The new rule is aimed at teams which refuse to provide action, the committee explained. Slowdown will still be all right.

Minor rules changes included: Players other than the shooter shall not touch the ball on the rim of the basket or directly above. (Aimed at goal tending).

On double fouls there will be no free throws—just a center jump.

An out-of-bounds ball at the end zone can be thrown in from any position at either end of the court. (Area under the basket formerly was barred).

West Defeats East In Annual Benefit Game

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Unimpressed by their opponents' big names, the West All-Stars buzzed to a 64-60 triumph over the East last night in the annual Shriners' benefit basketball game.

Little Gary Thompson, All-America from Iowa State, outscored the shining shooters of the East and did the quarterback chores for the West masterfully.

Thompson hit 16 points and was named the game's outstanding player. Southern Methodist's jump ball Jim Krebs hauled in 15 rebounds for the West and also outplayed his opponent, Charley Tyra of Louisville University, in all other departments.

Coach Frank McGuire of North Carolina had the dream squad in his own All-America Lennie Rosenbluth, Tyra, Grady Wallace of South Carolina and Joe Gibbon of Mississippi. It was the first time McGuire directed a losing team in 33 games this season.

Thompson, playing under his own Iowa State coach, Bill Stran-

East's scoring was led by Rosenbluth with 14.

Despite bad weather, 7,000 persons watched the West take its fifth win in the six games played for the benefit of the Shriners' hospitals for crippled children.

Syracuse University's best basketball season in victories was 1945-46. The Orange that season won 23 games and lost 4.

VA Estimates Vets Of World War I Below Three Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of living World War I veterans has dropped below three million, the Veterans Administration said today.

VA estimated the figure will be about 2,995,000 by the end of March.

It said 4,744,000 served in World War I, with about 131,000 dying in service during the conflict. About 1,613,000 have died since the end of the war.

The average age of the living World War I veterans is slightly under 63. About 90,000 of them are dying yearly.

Dale Alexander, who ended his playing career with Brooklyn, is now scouting for the New York Giants.

Says Inquiry On Magazines Adds Allure

HOLLYWOOD — What can the material to the magazines. But they still find other sources of information.

"These magazines are read by 5 or 10 million people — maybe more by the time the issues are passed around. The popularity of the magazines shows that there is a demand for this kind of material. There are people who derive a vicarious thrill from preying on the private lives of famous people. The only solution would come if those readers could be persuaded not to read such cheap smut."

Brando will talk to only a handful of Hollywood correspondents.

"I have made it a rule that I will answer no questions about my personal life," he explained. "This morbid curiosity about how a person lives and eats and sleeps is revolting to me and I will not contribute to it."

"When I first came to Hollywood, I made mistakes. I didn't know the ropes, and I found people taking advantage of me. But kept a list of just who did what, and I got to know who could be trusted."

Kueker Designs New Uranium Detector

Louis A. Kueker, a native of Sedalia, is the author of an article published in the March issue of Radio-Electronics, a national technical magazine for hi-fi and TV-radio technicians and experimenters.

Kueker's article, "Transistorized Scintillation Counter," tells how to build a lightweight unit for detecting uranium. The unit, which the author designed himself, offers several advantages over standard scintillation counters. In addition to its light weight, it is inexpensive, long lasting, draws low current, and is easy to maintain and operate.

Kueker was educated in Smith-Cotton High School and Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, Rolla. Since his graduation, he has worked for such companies as General Electric, Sperry Gyroscope and Sandia Corp. He is currently a field service engineer for Hughes Aircraft Co., temporarily stationed at Suffolk County Air Force Base in Westhampton Beach, N. Y.

Makes Pilot TV Movie On Detectives

NEW YORK — If you have an idea for a regular television program you must make a "pilot film" in order for anyone to take your idea seriously. But that does not mean of course, that anyone will buy it.

It is estimated that of every 20 pilot films made, only one reaches the home screen as a regular TV program. It's a big gamble — and an expensive one.

Production cost of a pilot film is usually about $40,000. That is the approximate cost of a pilot recently completed in New York by the producing team of Norman Frank and Stanley Niss. Tentatively entitled "U.F. 61," it will be (they hope) a series about the activities of a mythical New York detective squad. The word is that ABC-TV is definitely interested in the series.

Frank and Niss pondered and planned the series on and off for four years before taking the big gamble of actually producing a pilot. Because a successful pilot theoretically must be better than 19 other pilots, they collected a first-rate production staff and cast.

For a director they chose Frank Schaffner; as cinematographer, Burgi Contner; as musical director, Alfredo Antonini. James Gregory was picked to play the role of the central character, Lt. Bernard J. Savage. About half the footage for the proposed series will be done on location.

Various television series have shown detectives based in a central police headquarters assigned to homicide one week, narcotics another, and so through various types of crime. Frank, a stickler for authenticity, insists that it isn't done that way in actual police headquarters practice. But precinct detectives do have more versatile roles.

So he invented the 12th New York precinct as the dramatic background for Lt. Savage and his fellow policemen. The projected series does not seek to take stories from New York police files (which have been sealed as a source to TV programs anyway). It did hire a police consultant for the pilot film to assure complete authenticity of detail. The consultant's only criticism was that one actor needed a haircut before he could portray a cop.

Farm Bureau Women To Tour Jeff City

The women's activities committee of the Pettis County Farm Bureau is sponsoring a tour to Jefferson City on April 12. The round trip fare on a bus load of 35 will be about $2.60. The trip will include a tour of the capitol building, a visit to the Legislature, and possibly to the penitentiary with about an hour at noon for eating lunch.

The bus will leave from the Pettis County courthouse at 9 a.m. and return at 4 p.m. All Farm Bureau women may make the trip and those wanting to go are requested to send in their names with the amount for the fare to the Farm Bureau office, 118 West Third, by April 4.

It takes a giant highway to speed up automotive traffic and it takes a giant medium to speed up sales traffic. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town from coast to coast.

Reader traffic in the daily newspaper is greater than ever. According to Sindlinger & Co., statistical analysts, newspaper reader traffic hit an all-time high of 100,000,000 on an average day in January.

Reader traffic leads to sales traffic. The greater the traffic the greater the opportunity for retailers, wholesalers, distributors and regional manufacturers to sell more goods to more people.

Quakers Told Religion OK's Amendment

PHILADELPHIA — Quakers are told in a report made public today that the history of their sect condones the invoking of such rights as the Fifth Amendment "where there is reason to believe that government's great power is being used in an oppressive way."

The report, prepared by two young members of the Philadelphia yearly meeting of Friends, further urges Quakers to "make no automatic and unthinking assumptions of guilt" about a person who invokes the Fifth Amendment.

The 32-page pamphlet was presented yesterday as part of the Philadelphia yearly meeting's weeklong 27th session.

It was drawn up in the wake of a controversy over a librarian for a suburban Quaker group who has been convicted of contempt of Congress in refusing to answer questions about alleged past Communist affiliations. The Plymouth Friends meeting of Plymouth Meeting, Pa., has refused to fire the librarian, Mrs. Mary Knowles, despite pressure from the community and from within its own ranks. She is free in bail pending appeal of her conviction.

"Many persons who seek the protection of the Fifth Amendment are surely guilty of the acts concerning which they refuse to testify," the report states. "And there are probably some who do not exercise the privilege in good faith."

However, the report continues, "is it not equally reasonable to infer in a given case that wholly innocent man may honestly believe that to answer is to invite later criminal conviction, despite his innocence?"

25 Person Faint At Rock 'n' Roll Show

DALLAS — At least 25 persons fainted outside the Sportatorium here last night where some 12,000 persons, mostly teenagers, thronged to a rock 'n' roll show headed by singer- pianist Fats Domino.

Police attributed the fainting spells to the crash of fans leaving after the first performance and colliding with screaming fans trying to get in to the final show.

Jean Castillo, 17, was rushed to a hospital for emergency treatment along with two unidentified companions. She apparently collapsed from pressure of the tremendous crowd, which spilled into the streets and snarled traffic for a time.

Argentina's President Decides Against Move In Economic Crisis

BUENOS AIRES — Provisional President Pedro Aramburu apparently has decided to pass up a drastic austerity program in favor of a more moderate plan to meet Argentina's economic crisis.

Robert Verrier, Finance minister who advocated an all-out economy drive and said he would resign if it didn't go through, was dropped from the Cabinet last night. Named to succeed him was Adalberto Krieger Vasena, young economist and a director of Argentina's Central Bank.

Government sources said the change knocked out Verrier's plan, but that some sort of economic recovery drive still is probable. They emphasized it would call for a more moderate approach. Verrier's proposals had brought strong protests because they called for wiping out price controls and freezing salaries.

US Paroles Japanese

TOKYO — The United States today paroled four more Japanese war criminals, a former Army captain and three lieutenants.

They had been serving sentences ranging from 30 years to life imprisonment at Tokyo's Sugamo Prison.

Britain Rejects Japan's Protests On Bomb Tests

LONDON — Britain announced today she has rejected a fresh series of Japanese protests against her plan to stage H-bomb tests in the Pacific.

In a note handed to Ambassador Haruhiko Nishi Saturday, the British government declared it was "carrying out these tests in the interest of the defense of the free world and consequently, . . . (is) not prepared to stop or postpone them."

Replying to four official protests sent from Tokyo in the past three weeks, the note pointed out that the test area — around Christmas Island — was "far from inhabited islands and some 4,000 miles from Japan." Bikini Atoll, where the United States tests its big nuclear weapons, is about 2,000 miles from Japan.

The note rejected Japanese complaints that the tests would menace Japanese shipping and fishing interests.

The explosions will test Britain's first hydrogen bomb. They have been announced for any time after March 1 and may continue until Aug. 1.

Congressman Breaks Rule In Emergency

WASHINGTON — Rep. Bass (D-Tenn.) has broken his rule against sending more than 10 government publications to any one person at one time.

Jimmy Hines, Ex-Tammany Power, Dies

LONG BEACH, N.Y. — James J. (Jimmy) Hines, 80, onetime power in Manhattan's Tammany Hall who went to prison in 1940, died in Long Beach Memorial Hospital today of a kidney ailment.

Hines had been in the hospital since March 12.

The veteran political leader broke with Tammany to support Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidential nomination at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago in 1932. Tammany had been solid for Al Smith.

Hines later became dispenser of federal patronage for Manhattan.

But in 1939 Hines was convicted on charges of conspiring to protect policy rackets in the city. He served 3 years and 11 months in Sing Sing Prison.

Former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, then Manhattan District attorney, prosecuted the case.

Hines was born Dec. 18, 1876, in Manhattan. Politics was in his blood. His grandfather had been a Tammany worker in the time of Boss Tweed. His father served Tammany under Boss Croker.

Hines grew up in Manhattan's 11th Assembly Dist. At the height of his political career, his official position was only that of leader of the 11th Dist.

He quit school at the age of 15 and went to work in his father's blacksmith shop. Years after, Jimmy boasted that he had shod more than 40,000 horses.

The brawny Hines had the common touch as a politician. During his days as district leader, he provided food baskets, jobs, boat rides, children's parties and other favors for the needy.

NEW YORK — Mrs. Vivienne Nearing lost her new television quiz show crown to a New York man last night on NBC's Twenty-One.

Hank Bloomgarden, 28-year-old administrative consultant in medical research, defeated Mrs. Nearing on a question about island cities. Two weeks ago she had topped Columbia University instructor Charles Van Doren. He had won the largest fortune of any contestant in a single quiz show — $129,000.

Bloomgarden took the crown when Mrs. Nearing, a lawyer, failed to place Santa Cruz de Tenerife in the Canary Islands.

Bloomgarden won $10,500 of the $16,000 she had earned. She was left with $5,500. Bloomgarden went on to defeat Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, 76, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., president emeritus of Vassar College, and now has $21,000 to his credit.
